James A. Henretta, Eric Hinderaker, Rebecca Edwards, Robert O. Self : America's History, Volume II before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised America's History, Volume II:

1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. America's History One of the Best College Textbooks Around By R. Swain One of the best textbooks on American history. Author Henretta includes in every chapter the important role that minorities, women and immigrants played in the development of this country. I have been using Volume II of the Henretta series for ten years in my online U.S. History Since 1877 course. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Great option! By Neli Jackson The book was practically brand new! If you only need a book for a class requirement then rent from ! Can't go wrong! 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Four Stars By Customer The used copy I rented was in excellent shape. Great color graphics inside.

Help your students think historically Known for its interpretive voice and thoughtful analysis, America's History models exactly the kind of thinking and writing students need to be successful. An accessible and balanced narrative with built-in primary sources and skills-based pedagogy gives students practice in thinking historically, and features new ways of mastering the content so that students come to class prepared. The eighth edition rolls out Bedford/St. Martin's new digital history tools, including LearningCurve, an adaptive quizzing engine that garners over a 90% student satisfaction rate, and LaunchPad, the all new interactive e-book and course space that puts high quality easy-to-use assessment at your fingertips. Easy to integrate into your campus LMS, and featuring video, additional primary sources, a wealth of adaptive and summative quizzing, and more, LaunchPad cements student understanding of the text while helping them make progress toward learning outcomes. It's the best content joined up with the best technology.

About the Author James A. Henretta is a Professor Emeritus of American History at the University of Maryland, College Park. His publications include "The Evolution of American Society, 1700-1815: An Interdisciplinary Analysis"; "Salutary Neglect": "Colonial Administration under the Duke of Newcastle; Evolution and Revolution: American Society, 1600-1820; The Origins of American Capitalism"; and an edited volume, "Republicanism and Liberalism in America and the German States, 1750-1850." Recent publications include "Magistrates, Common Law Lawyers, Legislators: The Three Legal Systems of British America," in "The Cambridge History of Law in America" and "Charles Evans Hughes and the Strange Death of Liberal America," in "Law and History," derived from his ongoing research on the liberal state in America: New York, 1820-1975. During his career, Henretta taught at Sussex, Princeton, UCLA, and Boston University. He served as a Fulbright Senior Scholar in Australia and as the Harmsworth Professor of American History at Oxford University. Eric Hinderaker is Professor of History and Director of Graduate Studies at the University of Utah. His research explores early modern imperialism, relations between Europeans and Native Americans, and comparative colonization. His publications include "The Two Hendricks: Unraveling a Mohawk Mystery," which won the Dixon Ryan Fox Prize; "Elusive Empires: Constructing Colonialism in the Ohio Valley, 1673-1800"; and, with Peter C. Mancall, "At the Edge of Empire: The Backcountry in British North America." He is currently working on two books, one about the Boston Massacre and another, with Rebecca Horn, on patterns of European colonization in the Americas. Rebecca Edwards is a Professor of History at Vassar College. Her research interests focus on the post-Civil War era and include electoral politics, environmental history, and the history of women and gender roles. She is the author of "Angels in the Machinery: Gender in American Party Politics from the Civil War to the Progressive Era" and "New Spirits: Americans in the "Gilded Age," 1865-1905." She is currently working on a biography of women's rights advocate and People's Party orator Mary E. Lease. Robert O. Self is Professor of History at Brown University. His research focuses on urban history, American politics, and the post-1945 United States. He is the author of "American Babylon: Race and the Struggle for Postwar Oakland," which won four professional prizes, including the James A. Rawley Prize from the Organization of American Historians, and "All in the Family: The Realignment of American Democracy Since the 1960s." He is currently at work on a book about the centrality of houses, cars, and children to family consumption in the twentieth-century United States. He teaches courses on the postwar United States; the history of political movements; the history of gender, sex, and the family; and urban history."
