

(Free pdf) Hindu Mysticism

Hindu Mysticism

S. N. DasGupta

*audiobook / ebooks / Download PDF / ePub / DOC

Download

Read Online

#961529 in Books S N DasGupta 2008-04-01Original language:EnglishPDF # 1 9.02 x .19 x 5.981, .28 #File Name: 160459303280 pagesHindu Mysticism | File size: 57.Mb

S. N. DasGupta : Hindu Mysticism before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Hindu Mysticism:

1 of 2 people found the following review helpful. SUPERB SUMMARY OF INDIAN SPIRITUAL THOUGHT.By DHIRENDRA NATH DASFrom explanations of Vedic thoughts to Bhakti tatwa as taught by Chaitanya Mahaprabhu,this series of lectures are truely enlightening.Great reading.0 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Three StarsBy COGDIREceived in good order.0 of 3 people found the following review helpful. print too smallBy Steve DerneText is very small making for an uncongenial read.

Eastern Wisdom: Five Paths to Enlightenment explores Buddhism, Taoism, Hindu Mysticism, Confucianism, and Shinto. Here are spiritual paths that most Westerners have no real understanding of, but the wisdom here is both timeless and liberating. These five classics-The Creed of Buddha; The Sayings of Lao Tzu; The Yengishiki; The Great Learning, and Hindu Mysticism-are valuable introductions of the religions of the East.

"Dr. Ramanam has produced a well documented account of a difficult but important system of thought. His approach to his materials, his intellectual discrimination, and his command of Chinese sources will surely earn him wide respect in India and abroad. This scholar is also well versed in modern Japanese Buddhist studies and has lectured at Ohtani university and elsewhere in Japan". --Glen, Baxter W. About the Author About the Author: "Surendranath Dasgupta (1887-1952) was a scholar of Sanskrit and philosophy. He was principal of Sanskrit College and later a professor at the University of Calcutta. Dasgupta was born in Kushtia, Bengal (now in Bangladesh). His ancestral home was in the village Goila in Barisal District. He studied in Ripon College an affiliated college of the University of Calcutta and graduated with honours in Sanskrit. Later, he received his Masters degree from Sanskrit College in 1908. He got a second Masters degree in Western Philosophy in 1910 from the University of Calcutta. His career in teaching began with a short stint as a lecturer in Rajshahi College. Later, he became a professor of Sanskrit and Bengali in Chittagong College. After some time, he went back to graduate school and received a PhD from the University of Calcutta, and later went to England to work on his second PhD at the University of Cambridge. Following his return in 1924, Dasgupta joined the Presidency College as professor of philosophy. Later, he became the principal of Sanskrit College, and later joined the University of Calcutta as a professor. In 1932, he served as the president of the Indian Philosophical Congress. His own philosophy was known as Theory of Dependent Emergence. Dasgupta had three daughters Maitreyi Devi (Sen), Chitrita Devi (Gupta) and Sumitra Majumdar. Maitreyi Devi and Chitrita Devi (Gupta) were also famous writers. The list of his famous students includes scholars like Mircea Eliade and Debiprasad Chattopadhyaya. His sons Subhayu Dasgupta, Sugata Dasgupta and Prof. Subhachari Dasgupta also left behind valuable work in nation building. Subhayu Dasgupta wrote the famous book "Hindu Ethos and the Challenge of Change", while Sugata Dasgupta was a featured speaker and a noted Gandhian while his youngest son, Subhachari Dasgupta, erstwhile professor at the National Institute for Bank Management developed civil society leaders in India for three decades through the People's Institute for development and Training. His only surviving child Sumitra Majumdar now spends her time between Goa and Calcutta." (Quote from wikipedia.org)