By Leonard Frank It answers the question as to why Israel and Judaism are losing the International Media War and proposes solutions that Israel can implement to reverse the problem. I only hope that there is somebody, somewhere listening so that the insidious rise in anti-Semitism can be reversed.

The War of a Million Cuts explains how the delegitimization of Israel and anti-Semitism can be fought. The book describes the hateful messages of those who defame Israel and the Jews, details why anti-Semitism and anti-Israelism have the same core motifs, and discusses the main groups of inciters, including Muslim states, Muslims in the Western world, politicians, media, NGOs, church leaders, those on the extreme left and the extreme right, Jewish self-haters, academics, social democrats, and many others. It explains how the hate messages are effectively transmitted to the public at large, and discusses what impact the delegitimization has already made on Israel and the Jews.

Despite all efforts in that front, the delegitimization campaigns [against Israel] have increased in number and extended in their reach. This book by Dr. Manfred Gerstenfeld shows clearly how much and how. --From the foreword by Jose Maria Aznar, Former President of the Government of Spain
Manfred Gerstenfeld...carefully documents the plethora of current expressions of hatred of Jews and Israel....It is a book not just to read by to act upon. --Daniel Herman, Minister of Culture, Czech Republic
Manfred Gerstenfeld [is] without doubt the greatest authority on anti-Semitism today. --Anshel Pfeffer, Haaretz
