Political Islam: Religion, Ideology and Power (Critical Studies on Islam):

"Successfully combines a 'discourse analysis' approach with socio-political investigation of the world situation after September 11th." -- Nasr H. Abu Zayd, Professor of Islamic Studies, Leiden University
"This is precisely the kind of book that the informed reader will want in hand..." -- Augustus Richard Norton, Professor, Boston University
"This volume is a must for students of Islam and politics." -- Jorgen S. Nielsen, Professor of Islamic Studies and Director, Graduate Institute for Theology and Religion, University of Birmingham
About the Author
Azza Karam is a Program Director at the World Conference of Religions for Peace in New York.
