Steven J. Friesen : Twice Neokoros before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Twice Neokoros:

This is a case study of the Cult of the Sebastoi that was established in the city of Ephesus by the province of Asia during the late first century CE. It served as a prototypical manifestation of socio-religious developments during the late first and early second centuries in the Eastern Mediterranean.

'...a very valuable contribution to ' Guy MacLean Rogers, "Journal for Rom. Studies," 1994. '...a very informative, carefully argued and well written book that makes significant advances in our understanding of the function of the early imperial cult in Asia Minor.'" P. W. van der Horst, "Mnemosyne," 1995. '...this important study is the first monograph-length treatment of the provincial cult of the emperors in Ephesus. Highly recommended.'" John T. Fitzgerald, "Religious Studies," 1995. '...Friesens's book has much to offer as a provocative exploration of the distinctive features of the imperial cult in Ephesus.'" R.A. Kearsley, "The Classical," 1995. '...Friesen's work makes an important contribution to our understanding of the imperial cult in first-century Ephesus.'" Philip A. Harland, "Toronto Journal of Theology," 1997.'...a very valuable contribution to ' Guy MacLean Rogers, Journal for Rom. Studies, 1994.
