It just covers enough materials to be an excellent informative introductory textbook. It would also be a great book for those who are interested in learning world history. It is simple, concise, and informative. I bought volume 2 for leisure reading after using volume 1 as a textbook for my history class. 2 of 4 people found the following review helpful. GOOD BOOK! By Jaren De Asis Yea there is a new edition but my teacher seems to like this one, and in my school (sierra college), the bookstore sells it as if its gold. The 5th edition is not much different my teacher said, there were just more added info. This book is great! thanks to the author. It is well explained, understandable, and very interesting facts. It never once bore me. I love reading it. It makes me realize how this world started. OR maybe because of my biases, how the Bible seems to be true. The fact that most civilization pertains to a supreme being or after life; from there, is how culture was made from each civilization or country. Thanks authors good job. Seller: It took a while, but I got it. It's in good-enough-standing text book for class. It seems very old, and pretty beat up but it's fine with me. It came around few days before the last day they assumed it will arrive. Took a while, but I got it thanks. OVER ALL: GOOD definitely have another business with this seller. Thanks and God bless 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Not a fan of paperbacks. By Customer Book had a little damage, which isn't bad considering it's a paper back book.

"I think the small chapters make teaching from this more flexible. And I like most all the interpretive elements of the text. I think this is a really fine text." "It is a clear, concise, unbiased entry into world history. It is informative and thorough." About the Author Philip J. Adler taught college courses in world history to undergraduates for almost thirty years prior to his recent retirement. Dr. Adler earned his Ph.D. at the University of Vienna following military service overseas in the 1950s. His dissertation was on the activity of the South Slav emigres during World War I, and his academic specialty was the modern history of Eastern Europe and the Austro-Hungarian empire. His research has been supported by Fulbright and the National Endowment for the Humanities grants. Dr. Adler has published widely in the historical journals of the U.S. and German-speaking Europe. He is currently professor emeritus at East Carolina University, where he spent most of his teaching career. Randall L. Pouwels earned his B.A. in history at the University of Wisconsin and his Ph.D. in history at UCLA. His Ph.D. dissertation was on the history of Islam in East Africa. His book, HORN AND CRESCENT: CULTURAL CHANGE AND TRADITIONAL ISLAM ON THE EAST AFRICAN COAST, 800-1900 (Cambridge, 1987), has become a standard work in African history. THE HISTORY OF ISLAM IN AFRICA (Athens, Oxford, and Cape Town, 2000) was jointly edited with Nehemia Levtzion of Hebrew University, Jerusalem. Widely praised in reviews, it was selected by Choice as an Outstanding Academic Title for 2001 and was made a selection of the History Book Club. In addition, he has written numerous articles and reviews on East African history, the history of Islam in Africa, and historical methodologies. Dr. Pouwels's other research interests include the history of the Middle East, the Indian Ocean, and the history and archaeology of Native Americans. Over the years, his work has been supported by grants and fellowships from Fulbright-Hays, the National Endowment for the Humanities, the Social Studies Research Council, the National Geographic Society, and the American Philosophical Society. He taught African history for over twenty years at LaTrobe University in Melbourne, Australia, and at UCLA. He has been the Professor of African and Middle Eastern History at the University of Central Arkansas since 1984.
